GETTING STARTED

How to Use This Guide

This guide covers statewide Hawaii resources, plus the specific contacts for each island. Hawai'i doesn't have county sheriffs — each island runs its own police department and court contacts.

Start here: Hawai'i splits protective orders by relationship — Family Court for a partner or relative, District Court for anyone else — so check the Local Police & Courts page to find the right one.

Before you call: have your documentation ready — dates, what happened, any messages or photos saved, and whether a report has already been filed elsewhere.

If you're in danger: call 911 first. Every other number in this guide is for follow-up support, not emergency response.

What's inside

- Emergency & immediate-danger contacts
- Statewide Hawaii agencies (Crime Victim Compensation Commission, Attorney General Victim Assistance, State Judiciary)
- Reporting to local police & county sheriffs
- Domestic violence protective orders explained
- Step-by-step: filing a report & getting a protective order
- Specialized support (child abuse, elder abuse, civil rights)
- A one-page master contact sheet

Legal notice: This guide offers general information for educational purposes and is not legal advice. Phone numbers, addresses, and procedures for Hawaii state and local agencies were verified at time of writing but can change — confirm current details with the agency directly. Stalking.org is not affiliated with any agency listed and is not a crisis service. If you are in immediate danger, call 911.

COURTS

Protective Orders in Hawai‘i

Order for Protection (Family Court): for stalking by a spouse, former spouse, someone you live with or used to live with, a co-parent, or a close relative.

District Court Protective Order: used when you are not related to or in a domestic relationship with the stalker — a stranger, acquaintance, neighbor, or coworker.

Statewide law: a copy of any order is sent to the local county police department within 24 hours, so it's on file wherever you are in Hawai‘i.

Where to file

Family Court or District Court for your island — see the Local Police & Courts page for contacts.

Step-by-Step: What to Expect

●Filing a Police Report

- 1 Go to any police department or county sheriff's office — you do not have to go to the one nearest the stalker.
- 2 Ask to speak with an officer and say clearly that you want to report stalking or harassment.
- 3 Bring your documentation: dates, messages, photos, and names of any witnesses.
- 4 Ask for the report's complaint number before you leave, and request a copy if possible.
- 5 Ask about victim assistance resources — many departments have a victim advocate or can refer you to ACADV.

●Getting a Protective Order

- 1 Go to Family Court (domestic relationship) or District Court (no domestic relationship) for your island.
- 2 Describe each incident with as much detail as possible — dates, what happened, and any pattern you've noticed.
- 3 File the petition with the clerk.
- 4 A judge can issue a temporary restraining order the same day, often without the other party present.
- 5 The court sends a copy to your county police department within 24 hours — keep a copy with you, at home, and at work.
